

kane school work-study program

Work-study positions are offered to individuals that exhibit traits such as:

- enthusiasm for the program
- willingness to commit time and energy to Kinected
- demonstrate financial need
- punctual & responsible
- detail oriented

Work-study arrangements are made on an individual basis depending upon need of the applicant. A work-study position typically covers a portion of the tuition for Comprehensive Pilates Mat and/or Basic Training I/II. Work-study commitments are available in 3 month, 6 month and 12 month obligations.

To reach your desired level of financial assistance you are more than welcome to apply for (and receive) two work-study positions simultaneously.

(Example: a work-study can do both the mat washing & manual assembly and combine the discounts off the course tuition.)

Work-study students play a vital role in our growing community and are responsible for representing the studio in a positive light. In-studio work-study individuals will help foster and support a nurturing and vibrant studio environment.

Please note that if you are accepted into the work-study program the financial assistance towards your tuition is dependent upon you completing all hours and requirements. If you resign from the program before completing your contract/assigned duties previous credit will not be applied towards your course tuition.
